DiversiTech® Announces Expansion to Its Equipment Pad Product Line

Move Supports Company's Goal to be Industry's Premier Pad Supplier

ORLANDO, Fla. (AHR Expo, Booth #2235) — Jan. 25, 2016 – DiversiTech Corp., the leading manufacturer and supplier of equipment mounting pads, is pleased to announce that it is now offering an expanded equipment pad product line that is solely manufactured in the U.S. The expansion underscores the company's mission of being the premier pad supplier to HVAC contractors. With additional sizes to choose from, contractors now have a wider selection of options to meet their needs and help them increase sales.

DiversiTech offers the largest selection of equipment pad sizes and models, timely delivery and the deepest inventory in the industry. Already the industry's leading plastic pad supplier through its E Lite Pad[™] line, other pad lines available include: concrete pads, composite pads and hurricane pads. Contractors can also benefit from DiversiTech's various innovations including the patented UltraLite® technology. UltraLite® pads are durable, fiber reinforced cement pads that flex instead of cracking or breaking. They include a textured surface to prevent equipment sliding and are unaffected by environmental conditions.

Other pad innovations include The Hurricane PadTM Concrete Equipment Pad, which provides extra protection for equipment against high winds and extreme weather. The Hef-T-PadTM is an injection molded equipment pad created from high impact polypropylene that is easy to handle, yet durable and strong. And CladLite® pads are steel reinforced, lightweight concrete pads designed for maximum durability and weather resistance.

All together, DiversiTech offers more than 300 different pad options for contractors to choose from ranging from pad sizes, surface materials, colors, weights, strengths and attachments.

"We are working hard to be the HVAC contractor's supplier of choice for all their equipment pad needs," said DiversiTech Senior Director of Marketing Alec Minné. "This expansion is proof of that commitment and underscores how we're helping contractors simplify the way they work."

To coincide with this announcement, the EnviroPadTM product line is now rebranded EcoPadTM. This is a name change only as the DiversiTech part numbers will not change.
